Push Security stops identity attacks that result in account takeover such as phishing, credential stuffing, session hijacking and secures your entire identity perimeter. Push is the industry's first identity security platform that uses a browser agent to monitor and defend workforce identities. Think of Push as being like EDR, but in the browser. Security teams use Push to map their identity attack surface, detect and respond to advanced identity attacks in real time, and proactively improve their overall identity security posture. Push was founded by former red team members skilled in offensive security and security operations and is backed by Decibel, GV (Google Ventures), Redpoint Ventures, Datadog Ventures, B3 Capital and other notable angel investors. HIBP enables you to discover if your account was exposed in most of the data breaches by directly searching the system. However, certain breaches are particularly sensitive in that someone's presence in the breach may adversely impact them if others are able to find that they were a member of the site. These breaches are classed as "sensitive" and may not be publicly searched. A sensitive data breach can only be searched by the verified owner of the email address being searched for. This is done via the notification system which involves sending a verification email to the address with a unique link. When that link is followed, the owner of the address will see all data breaches and pastes they appear in, including the sensitive ones. There are presently 77 sensitive breaches in the system including Adult FriendFinder (2015), Adult FriendFinder (2016), Adult-FanFiction.Org, Ashley Madison, Beautiful People, Bestialitysextaboo, Brazzers, BudTrader, Carding Mafia (December 2021), Carding Mafia (March 2021), Catwatchful, CityJerks, Cocospy, Color Dating, CrimeAgency vBulletin Hacks, CTARS, CyberServe, Date Hot Brunettes, DC Health Link, Doxbin and 57 more. The vast majority of services in HIBP are completely free, including personal email address searches for breaches and stealer logs, notifications for personal email addresses and domains, most domain searches and all searches of Pwned Passwords. Only searches of larger domains, searches for domains in stealer logs and using the API to search through breaches require a paid subscription. 14,986,167,586 pwned accounts Check if your password has appeared in known data breaches In May 2025, a coalition of law enforcement agencies took down the criminal infrastructure behind the malware used to launch ransomware attacks in a new phase of "Operation Endgame". This followed the first Operation Endgame exercise a year earlier, with the latest action resulting in 15.3M victim email addresses being provided to HIBP by law enforcement. A further 43.8M victim passwords were also provided for HIBP's Pwned Passwords service. In April 2021, a large data set of over 500 million Facebook users was made freely available for download. Encompassing approximately 20% of Facebook's subscribers, the data was allegedly obtained by exploiting a vulnerability Facebook advises they rectified in August 2019. The primary value of the data is the association of phone numbers to identities; whilst each record included phone, only 2.5 million contained an email address. Most records contained names and genders with many also including dates of birth, location, relationship status and employer. We'll notify you when your email address appears in new data breaches, helping you stay ahead of potential security threats Access personalised features and manage your Have I Been Pwned account
