Cosmic Consciousness: a study in the evolution of consciousness Human Mind The title PageAuthorrichard Maurice BuckelanguageEnglishSubjectConsciousnessPublished1901MediaA € Typ reprint Cosmic: A Study in the evolution of the human mind is a 1901 BOOK by Richard Maurice Bucke psychiatrist, in which the author explores the concept of Cosmic consciousness, which I defined as "a higher form of consciousness more than one owned by the Ordinary Man". conscientious shapes in cosmic consciousness, Bucke said that discovered three forms, or degrees of consciousness: [1] Simple Consciousness Possessed by animals and Mankind self, possessed by humanity, which includes thought, reason and Cosmic Consciousness imagination , which is "a higher form of consciousness more than one owned by the Ordinary Man" [2] According to Bucke, this consciousness shows the cosmos consist not of dead matter governed by unconscious, stiff, and unintended law; Item On the contrary, as completely immaterial, all spiritual and completely alive; shows that death is an absurd, that everyone has eternal life; It shows that the universe is God and that God is the universe, and that no evil ever never failed to enter it; A great quantity of this is, of course, from the point of view of consciousness, absurd; However, it is no doubt true. [3] Moores said Bucke's cosmic consciousness is an interconnected way to see things "which is more than an intuitive knowing how much it is an understanding of the facts". [4] Moores stressed that, for the scholars of the purist field, the experience of cosmic consciousness is incomplete without the element of love "which is the foundation of mystical consciousness". [4] Mysticism, therefore, is the perception of the universe and all its seemingly disparate subjects existing in a unitary way all together linked by love. [5] Juan A. Herrero Brasas said the cosmic consciousness of Bucke refers to the evolution of the intellect, and not "the ineffable revelation of hidden truths". [6] According to Brasas, it was William James which equated Bucke's cosmic consciousness with mystical experience or mystical consciousness. [6] Notes Gary Lachman that today's experience Bucke most likely to be "explained" by the so-called "place of God", or more generally as a case of epilepsy of the temporal lobe, but he is skeptical of these e Of other "organic" explanations. [7] Bucke identified only males of cosmic consciousness. He believed that women were unable to do so. [8] (However, there are some women among the "additional cases" listed in the second part of the book.) He considered Walt Whitman as "the culmination of religious evolution and the omen of the future of humanity". [9] Similar concepts William James According to Michael Robertson. Cosmic Consciousness and William James' Book The various forms religious experience have a lot in common: [10] is Bucke and James to claim that all religions, no matter how apparently different, have a common nucleus; We both believe that it is possible to identify this nucleus by tearing away institutional devices of dogma and ritual and focusing on individual experience; And both identify mystical lighting as the foundation of all religious experience. [10] James made the concept of religious experience popular, [note 1], which he explored in the varieties of religious experience. [12] [13] He saw mysticism as a distinctive experience that provides the knowledge of the transcendental. [14] He considered the "personal religion" [15] to be "more fundamental both theology or clericalism", [15] and states: in mystical states that both become one with the absolute and we become aware of our unit. This is the eternal and triumphal mystical tradition, just altered by climate differences or I believe. In Indism, in neoplatonism, in sufism, in Christian mysticism, in Whitmanism, we find the same recurring note, so that there is no mystical expressions an eternal unanimity that should make a critical stop and think, and what to do Yes that mystical classics are, as mentioned, nor birthday nor Christmas. [16] As regards the cosmic consciousness, William James, in its wise confidences of a "psychic researcher", wrote that once again, are the relations between cosmic consciousness and matter? ... so that our ordinary human experience, its material, as well as on its mental side, seems to be just an extract from the great psycho-physical world [17] collective consciousness main items: NoA sphere and the collective consciousness James understood "Cosmic Consciousness" of being a collective conscience, a "great consciousness reservoir", [18] which manifests itself in the minds of men and remains intact after the dissolution of the individual. It can "retain traces of the life story of his Individual ". [18] Friedrich Schleiermacher A classification similar to that proposed by Bucke was from the influential theologian Friedrich Schleiermacher (1768 "1834), viz.: [19] Animal, Bring awareness of sensual awareness of the highest consciousness in theology of Schleiermacher, higher consciousness" "the spirit of the human being who is " capable of transcending animal instincts ". [20] is the " point of contact with God "and the essence of being human. [20] When there is a higher consciousness, people are not alienated by God from their instinct. [20] The relationship between higher and lower consciousness is similar to the "struggle of the spirit of the spirit of St. Paul to overcome meat". [20] The highest consciousness establishes a distinction between natural sides and spiritual sides Human beings. [21] The concept of religious experience was used by Schleiermacher and Albert Ritschl to defend religion against scientific and lay criticisms and defend the conviction that moral and religious experiences justify the beliefs Religio self. [13] Other writers Cosmic consciousness bears the similarity with the Geist of Hegel: [22] [23] Everything seems to force us a Hegel interpretation that would buy his term "min" as a sort of cosmic consciousness; Not, of course, a traditional conception of God how to be separated from the universe, but rather as something more similar to those oriental philosophies that insist that everything is one. [23] The concept of the Teilhard de Chardin of the NoA sphere also brings similarity with the ideas of Bucke. [Necessary quote] According to Paul Marshall, a philosopher of religion, cosmic consciousness bears with some traditional pantheistic beliefs. [24] According to Ervin Laszlo, cosmic consciousness corresponds to the integral conscience of Jean Gebser and Don Edward Beck and at Christopher Cowan's Turquoise State of Cosmic Spirituality. [25] Ken Wilber, integral and mystical philosopher, identifies four stages of state / stage of cosmic consciousness (mystical experience) above the integral level of the ego and the level of the turquoise of Cowan.
