The Eloi are thin and fragile artisans, living on fruits. The Morlocks are blind laborers, living underground and rising to the surface on moonless nights to feed on the Eloi. The ancient Greeks believed the panther was one of the favored mounts of the god Dionysus. It is said they have an aversion to alcohol. Legends say the Caruncle has some sort of shining mirror or jewel on its forehead, reminiscent of the gemstone by that name. Brownies Small brown-colored men that often visit homes while the inhabitants are asleep to perform various chores. Like the chimera, it is made of three heads: a bull's head at its front, a god's head at its middle, and a lion's head at its rear. It is venomous and, if chopped in half, its two parts can reunite. Rukh A giant bird. Mandrakes In myth, mandrakes or mandragoras are familiar demons who appear in the figures of little men without beards. They are described as very beautiful birds similar to a peacock, have three legs, and live in the sun. Simurgh A winged, bird-like creature that is gigantic enough to carry off an elephant or a whale. Barometz This "animal" is actually a plant in the shape of a lamb with golden fleece. The Unicorn of China An animal that is similar to a unicorn. Its fur is woolly and soft, yet it has a cat's face and claws. Drawn from The Enochian Walks with God: Found out by a Spiritual Traveller, Whose Face Towards Mount-Sion Above was Set; with an Experimental Account of What was Known, Seen and Met withal There (1694) by Jane Lead. It is said that, without knowing it, they support the universe and affirm God. Its diet consisted of axe handles that are left unattended. Thermal Beings Entities composed solely of heat, from an earlier stage of the world's creation. Fairies Fairies are described as beautiful, tiny people that like to meddle in the affairs of humans. Axehandle Hound A dog with the face of an axe, with the normal body of a dog. The Panther A creature in ancient legend that resembles a big cat with a multi-colored hide. One of the devils is Keteb Mereri, Lord of the Noontide and of Scorching Summers. Fauna of Mirrors It was believed that another world existed behind all mirrors, inhabited by a wide amount of unknown and strange creatures. The Elephant That Foretold the Birth of the Buddha A white elephant with six tusks that appeared in a dream to, as its namesake suggests, foretell the birth of Buddha. Gnomes Sprites of the earth and hills, gnomes are often shown as bearded dwarves, often with rough features.
